For this year's annual Halloween season Call for Art, The Werk Gallery has asked artists from the community to submit artworks inspired by the theme "Memento Mori". Originating in ancient Rome as a reminder to the emperor of his own mortality during victory parades, memento mori is Latin for "remember you will die". Over the centuries the concept was incorporated into art objects that not only reminded viewers and patrons of their mortality but also inspired one towards gratitude for the life they've been given. These objects would include visual elements of death like skulls alongside elements of life like fruit or flowers to create this contrast and point of reflection. Poindexter's intricate paintings and drawings are an amalgam of layered shapes — some wholly invented, and some of varying degrees of familiarity. Is that a lampshade? A pinwheel? A peppermint candy? Featuring works from both her Flying Machines and Space Junk series, these objects and dozens of others are imagined busily inhabiting the airspace above our heads, silently zipping hither and yon. Poindexter's depicition of them invites investigation, smiles, and a touch of childlike wonder. The works are invariably playful, though at times the play comes with a slightly sharpened edge.

Audience Q&A will follow. Refreshments will be served. Wild Space Gallery is pleased to present a new exhibition, The Unseen Landscape, with three contemporary artists: Julie Evans, Karl Kelly, and Eric Wolf. In The Unseen Landscape, the artists complicate the very idea of representing the natural world. By evoking both the visible and the invisible, they are asking how we experience our environment, and how we construct images of it. The artists suggest what might become visible when representation is no longer the endpoint, but the beginning of an encounter between ourselves and our world. Please join Wild Space Gallery for an opening reception celebrating The Unseen Landscape: Julie Evans, Karl Kelly, Eric Wolf, followed by an artist conversation moderated by Leslie Elsasser and Noel Smith. The conversation will explore the artists' ideas and processes, and how their intimate encounters with nature become visual biospheres, inviting us to consider the immensity of the natural world

31. THE STUDIO@620, Inc.: 620 1st Ave. S., St. Pete, FL 33701 – Production Playing February 12-15th: What starts as a polite academic conversation quickly unravels into something far more charged. This February, HerStoriesTold brings The Niceties—the sharp, timely play by Eleanor Burgess—to The Studio@620. Set in a university office, The Niceties centers on a meeting between a progressive white professor and her Black student that spirals into a fierce, deeply human debate about race, power, history, and who gets to control the narrative. What begins with good intentions exposes uncomfortable truths about privilege, identity, and the limits of civility. Smart, unsettling, and often darkly funny, The Niceties doesn't offer easy answers—but it invites audiences into the tension, the questions, and the conversation we're still learning how to have. Join us for a production that challenges assumptions, sparks dialogue, and lingers long after the lights go down.

34. BROWNE ART GALLERY - 260 1st Ave S Third Floor, Suite 200-197, St. Petersburg, FL 33701 - New paintings by Francesco Agresti are presented in a solo exhibition entitled Emancipation. Agresti, an Italian-born artist who immigrated to New York in 1956, was educated alongside notable post-abstract expressionist artists including Sean Scully and Leon Golub, and has exhibited nationally and internationally. Agresti's latest body of work responds to Florida's coastal light and atmosphere—lyrical abstract meditations on seagrasses and ocean waves that convey intense interior emotion, mastery of color, and luminosity. Emancipation celebrates the artist's late career, marked by a palpable freedom, looseness, and joy. We look forward to welcoming you to this exhibition and to the inauguration of Browne Art's new gallery space in downtown St. Petersburg's Museum

District, located on the third floor of Station House. Refreshments will be served, conversations will be ongoing, and all works on view will be available for acquisition. Curator-led walkthroughs will take place throughout the evening.
